

Creating a People Strategy Workshop

This half day workshop is designed for organizations who have joined, or are interested in joining, the ‘working with Investors in People’ program. It will also be useful for organizations who are already accredited who would like to review and improve their people strategy.

It is ideal for HR professionals or other senior managers.

The main purpose of the workshop is to provide the technology for creating a people strategy and plan that links people management processes and business priorities.

Because good people make a great business

The model follows a five step process. Participants will learn how to apply the model to their own organization. For those who plan to go on to achieve accreditation this is the route map for getting there. For those who just want to use the Standard without becoming accredited it is the basis of a continuous
